

Assistant Professorships

The Department of Innovation and Organizational Economics (INO) at the Copenhagen Business School (CBS) is hiring assistant professors in the economics and management of innovation and entrepreneurship. The assistant professorship is a three year tenure-track position with research and teaching obligations.

Copenhagen Business School has around 18,000 students and an annual intake of around 1,000 international exchange students. With this number of students as well as around 500 full-time researchers, CBS is one of the three largest business schools in Northern Europe, covering a wide range of business-related academic fields.

INO has a stimulating research culture with many productive scholars, and is home to research centers such as Biotech Business, Blue Denmark, and DRUID. INO hosts the CBS Research Environment in Open Innovation and the Danish User-centered Innovation Lab. The INO faculty has in the recent past published in leading academic journals such as Cambridge Journal of Economics, California Management Review, Industrial and Corporate Change, Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, Journal of Economic Geography, Management Science, Organization Science, Research Policy, Journal of Product Innovation Management, Strategic Management Journal and Strategic Organization. INO hosts the Editorial office of the journal Industry & Innovation.

Candidates should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD from an accredited institution. They should have a strong research record or potential in the area of innovation and entrepreneurship preferably with strong skills in empirical analysis. Teaching experience and an interest in developing courses and programs is expected.

We will be interviewing at the Annual Conference of the Academy of Management in Chicago, August 7th-11th, 2009. If you wish to be considered for an interview during the AoM conference (alternatively in Copenhagen), please submit a cover letter, your CV and one sample research paper to job2009.ino@cbs.dk by July 27.

Selected candidates will be invited to give a job talk at INO in the fall semester.
