Profile:

I am a PhD fellow at the Department of Management, Society and Communication, CBS. I am interested in corporate anti-corruption and compliance and I theorize on the governing practices of multinational corporations by examining the deep seated rationalities, technologies, and identities in this particular area of social and corporate activity. I am inspired by theories of practice, governmentality, and actor-network theory. Currently, I am finalizing my PhD study and set up the scene for my next steps.
