Other teaching

Due to my portfolio of activities, I have – for a number of years - had very limited teaching responsibilities, with the exception of

- MPA International Summer School in Cracow, with an international consortium of universities, including CBS (each August from 2002-2010)
- CBS Executive 2009 and 2010: Part of the teaching faculty at a Leadership Development Course for the City of Copenhagen
- Occasional supervision of graduate theses (MSc in Business, Language and Culture and MSc in Business and Organisational Communication)

Before becoming Head of Department, however, I regularly taught and coordinated courses at

- MSc in Business, Language and Culture (Intercultural Management)
- B.Sc. in Business, Language and Culture
- Ph.D. courses (The Danish Political Science Doctoral School)

External examiner

1998- : Aalborg University and Roskilde University, accepting assignments (master level thesis exams) a couple of times each year

Selected recent service at CBS connected specifically to my role as Head of Department

Major research projects (1999-2008 and beyond)

As HoD, I have extensive experience working with Principal Investigators at MSC (ICM) and CBS' Research Support to design, develop, and review multiple research projects – working with the involved researchers at both CBS and elsewhere, partner universities, corporate partners and private and public research funds/councils. Examples of not successful and very intense research projects, which I learnt a lot from, include a project between MSC/CBS and Bogor University (Indonesia), to the Indonesian Palm Oil Fund, with meetings at CBS in December 2015, in Jakarta in January, February and March 2016 + countless SKYPE meetings, and meetings with ia Dansk Industri, Novozymes, and Haldor Topsoe. And in December 2019-March 2020, working with Professor Felix Creutzig, Technical University Berlin, Prof. Lucia Reisch and Professor Associate Prof. Maria Figueroa to develop a proposal for Pioneer Centre (submitted in March but not funded).

From 1999-2008, I participated in a number of research projects – several of which were externally funded – which in crucial ways have laid the foundation of my scholarly production:

- 2005-2008: With Hans Krause Hansen leading an international and cross-disciplinary investigation of Private Authority in Global Politics
- 2002-2005: Member of the Media and Democracy in the Network Society Project (the MODINET project), a three-year DKK 25 million interdisciplinary project, funded by the Danish Research Council involving 36 researchers from the social sciences and humanities in Denmark, coordinated by the University of Copenhagen (<http://www.modinet.dk>)
- 1999-2001: With Sven Bislev (DICM) and Hans Krause Hansen (DICM), Comparative Regionalism: Globalization and Transformations of the Public Sector. This project was part of a 3-year trans-institutional project Globalization, Statehood, and World Order, anchored at the Dept. of Political Science, Aarhus University, financed by the Danish Social Science Research Council
- 1999-2000: Political Communication – Borders, Boundaries and Frontiers, funded by the CBS Communication Initiative in 1998-99, this interdisciplinary project united researchers from three different departments at CBS: IOA, ICM and MPP (Hans Krause Hansen, Peter Kjær, Roy Langer, Dorte Salskov-Iversen and Niels Aakerstrøm)
