The call for expression of interest

The Department of Department of Management, Society and Communication (MSC) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS) welcomes expressions of interest from postdoctoral researchers with an excellent track record of research and publication to apply jointly with a supervisor from the department at CBS to the Marie Skłodowska-Curie Postdoctoral Fellowship Scheme.

Research themes

Expressions of Interest that address one or more of the following research themes are welcome.

Subject: Political economy of labour markets

Supervisor: Janine Leschke

The focus of this research theme is on the political economy of labour markets in view of recent labour market transformations. Labour market deregulation reforms, globalisation and offshoring as well as the growth of the services sector have increased the use of non-standard forms of employment. Similarly, technological advancement including automation, digitalisation and AI has led to restructuring of industries, replacing some jobs and requiring some workers to retrain. The recent green transition towards more environmentally sustainable economies affects employment and labour markets with unequal impacts across regions, industries and individuals. Institutions and policies play a key role in buffering these transformations both at a societal, workplace and individual level.

To exemplify, the expression of interest could for example address one of the following research themes:

- Migration, including intra-EU labour mobility and its impact on labour market integration
- Developments in non-standard employment including on the interface of social security
- Digitalisation and automation and its impact on job quality and working conditions
- Demographic change, families, and gender

Profile: Candidates with an interdisciplinary background in Sociology, Political Science and Social Policy as well as related disciplines are most welcome to apply.
